Chief Executive's statement

For the six months ended 30 November 2006

The six months to 30 November 2006 was another period of strong growth for IG. Revenue of £55.7m was 44% higher than the corresponding period last year. Profit before tax increased by 45% to £29.6m.

Profit growth over the period has been impacted by the significant investment we have made for future growth. Most of our cost base does not vary directly with revenue or client numbers, and, as previously indicated, is best thought of as largely fixed. However it is subject to periodic step changes and we have recently been through such a step change, concentrated in two main areas: IT and marketing.

IT is at the heart of almost everything we do and our IT platforms are an important element of our service offering to clients. More than 94% of our client transactions are now executed electronically and there is a trend towards clients trading more frequently, although with individual transaction sizes becoming smaller. System load therefore grows even more rapidly than revenues. We have completed equipping two new data centres, which are designed to handle the growth in transaction volumes we aim to achieve over the next few years.

At the same time we have increased the number of staff in our IT department. This gives us the resources necessary both to maintain our existing systems as they continue to experience very high growth in load and to develop and enhance our systems so as to continue to provide our clients with the best possible user experience.

We have also increased our marketing expenditure. This partially reflects the increase in the number of countries in which we are marketing from two to five. It also reflects some increase in the amount we are spending in our two longest established countries: the UK and Australia.

As a result of this increased expenditure, we believe we have enhanced IG's ability to deliver further strong, profitable growth.

Financial business

Overall our financial businesses achieved revenue growth of 48%, up to £46.6m.

Our UK financial spread betting business continues to deliver good growth. Revenue for this business was £30.6m, compared to £21.8m in the corresponding period last year, an increase of 40%. In the six months to 30 November 2006, we opened 5,077 new UK financial spread betting accounts compared to 3,972 in the corresponding period last year.

We have just launched a new client education program, TradeSense, for our UK financial spread betting business. Full details can be found on our website: igindex.co.uk. A key component of TradeSense is a six week program available to all new clients during which we will regularly send them training materials. Clients will also be able to place bets that are far smaller than our usual minimum deal sizes, enabling newcomers to build up their stakes gradually as they become more proficient and self-assured. The TradeSense area of our website will provide a repository of training materials, supported by a program of seminars, which we hope will be of benefit to many of our clients, both new and existing. We hope that TradeSense will both increase our rate of client recruitment and also improve our retention rate by equipping our clients with the knowledge to help them trade more successfully. Our approach to hedging means that we welcome successful clients, and we hope that the launch of TradeSense will further extend our market lead within the UK spread betting market.

The clients of our Australian business were less active than usual in July and August, as some reduced their trading levels following the volatile market conditions of May and June. This was shown to be only a temporary lull and volumes picked up strongly in September. Revenue growth was therefore much stronger in the second quarter than it was in the first. In late August the Australian Stock Report began to introduce their clients to us. This relationship has since produced a significant number of clients. During the period we have increased the level of our marketing expenditure and have reduced our headline commission rate to more competitive levels. All of these initiatives have helped to increase the rate of client recruitment in Australia, which is now running at over twice the rate of a year ago.

We have recently started three new operations targeting specific countries. Our Singapore office opened in April, followed by our Italian desk (based in our London office) in September and then our German office in October. These businesses, while at slightly different points in their development, are in their infancy. All three are producing encouraging results, but they are all currently small. Together they accounted for 11% of the new financial accounts that we opened in November and in that month they collectively delivered £175,000 of revenue.

Our London based CFD operation handles clients from all round the world, except for those countries serviced by one of our local offices. This business delivered excellent growth, with revenue for the period 80% higher than for the corresponding period a year earlier. A significant driver of this growth is revenue from introduced clients, which has more than doubled over the same period.

The revenue which we generate from clients betting or trading on foreign exchange ("FX") has increased from less than 10% of our total revenue four years ago, to over 20% of revenue now. Most of this growth has come from our UK spread betting business. We have just launched igforex.com, a foreign exchange trading site for retail clients utilising a new, FX specific, front-end to our dealing software. We hope that this will enable us to expand our FX client base beyond the UK spread betting community.

Our financial business is becoming increasingly diverse. The UK spread betting business deals almost exclusively with directly recruited retail clients from the UK. Our other financial businesses deal with a worldwide client base of market professionals and retail clients, sourced both directly and via an ever increasing network of introducers. We reached an important milestone in September when, for the first time ever, as a result of the significant growth in our other financials businesses, the number of accounts opened by our UK financial spread betting business was overtaken by the number opened by our other financial businesses.

Financial binaries

Revenue from financial binaries was up 15% to £3.1m. The majority of business on binaries comes from financial spread betting clients who view the binary as a useful addition to the extensive suite of financial products we make available to them.

Sport

Our Sport business achieved revenue growth of 37%, with revenue of £6m in the period. About half of the growth represents the benefit of the football World Cup, which for our sports spread betting business is the most significant event in the four year sporting calendar.

The other main component of the growth was our business of market making into betting exchanges. Revenue for the six months to 30 November 2006 was £650,000. It had been negligible in previous periods. Around 70% of this revenue was generated in the last quarter and this run-rate demonstrates the potential of this business.

Dividend

An interim dividend of 2p per share (2005: 1.5p), amounting to £6.6m will be paid in February.

Current trading and outlook

We have continued to see good levels of client activity since the period end. All parts of the business are performing well and we remain confident about the group's prospects for the current year.

We continue to evaluate opportunities to broaden our client base and expand the group's international reach.

Notes to the interim financial report

At 30 November 2006 (unaudited)

1. General information

The interim financial information for the six months ended 30 November 2006 has been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as adopted by the EU and in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act 1985.

The interim information, together with the comparative information contained in this report for the year ended 31 May 2006, does not constitute statutory accounts within the meaning of section 240 of the Companies Act 1985. However, the information has been reviewed by the company's auditors, Ernst & Young LLP, and their report appears at the end of the interim financial report. The financial statements for the year ended 31 May 2006 have been reported on by the company's auditors, Ernst & Young LLP, and delivered to the Registrar of Companies. The report of the auditors on those accounts was unqualified and did not contain a statement under section 237(2) or (3) of the Companies Act 1985.

2. Accounting policies

Basis of preparation

This interim financial report has been prepared in accordance with IFRS accounting policies consistent with those that the management expect to apply in its financial statements for the year ended 31 May 2007, subject to changes in interpretation, new standards and guidance. This interim financial report has been prepared in accordance with IAS34 and the disclosure requirements of the Listing Rules.

The interim financial report does not include all the information and disclosures required in the annual financial statements and should be read in conjunction with the group's annual financial statements for the year ended 31 May 2006.

The interim financial report is presented in Sterling and all values are rounded to the nearest thousand pounds (£000) except where otherwise indicated.

Significant accounting policies

The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the interim financial report are consistent with those followed in the preparation of the group's financial statements for the year ended 31 May 2006.

3. Segment information

The operating businesses are organised and managed separately according to the nature of the products provided, with each segment representing a strategic business unit that offers different products and serves different markets.

Primary reporting format - business segments

The group operates in three principal areas of activity: financial, financial binaries and sports. The types of financial instrument included within each of the above categories are:

Financial

Spread bets on equities, equity indices, precious and base metals, soft commodities, exchange rates, interest rates and other financial markets; spread bets on options on certain of these products; exchange traded futures and options. Spot and forward contracts for foreign exchange and contracts for differences (CFDs) on shares, indices and other financial markets.

Financial binaries

Fixed odds betting on equities, equity indices, precious and base metals, soft commodities, exchange rates, interest rates and other financial markets.

Sports

Spread bets and fixed odds bets on sporting and other events.

Secondary reporting format - geographical segments

The group has offices in the United Kingdom, Australia, Singapore and Germany. Clients of the Australian office deal with two of the UK operating subsidiaries, but under customer agreements which are specific to the Australian office. Clients of the Singapore office are serviced by staff in Australia and Singapore. Clients of the German office are serviced by staff in the UK and Germany. The results of the Singapore and German offices are not material and are reported within the results of the Australian and UK offices respectively. Clients of the London office may be situated anywhere else in the world. Accordingly, the group provides a geographical analysis based on the division of clients between the UK and Australian offices.

4. Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share amounts are calculated by dividing net profit for the year attributable to ordinary equity holders of the parent by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding during the year. Diluted earnings per share amounts are calculated by dividing the net profit attributable to ordinary equity holders of the parent by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding during the year plus the weighted average number of ordinary shares that would be issued on the conversion of all the dilutive potential ordinary shares into ordinary shares. The weighted average number of shares excludes treasury shares held in employee benefit trusts.

The following reflects the income and share data used in the basic and diluted earnings per share computations:

Independent review report to IG Group Holdings plc

Introduction

We have been instructed by the company to review the financial information for the six months ended 30 November 2006 which comprises the consolidated income statement, consolidated balance sheet, consolidated cash flow statement, consolidated statement of changes in equity, and the related notes 1 to 9. We have read the other information contained in the interim report and considered whether it contains any apparent misstatements or material inconsistencies with the financial information.

This report is made solely to the company in accordance with guidance contained in Bulletin 1999/4 'Review of interim financial information' issued by the Auditing Practices Board. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the company, for our work, for this report, or for the conclusions we have formed.

Directors' responsibilities

The interim report, including the financial information contained therein, is the responsibility of, and has been approved by, the directors. The directors are responsible for preparing the interim report in accordance with the Listing Rules of the Financial Services Authority which require that the accounting policies and presentation applied to the interim figures should be consistent with those applied in preparing the preceding annual accounts except where any changes, and the reasons for them, are disclosed.

Review work performed

We conducted our review in accordance with guidance contained in Bulletin 1999/4 'Review of interim financial information' issued by the Auditing Practices Board for use in the United Kingdom. A review consists principally of making enquiries of group management and applying analytical procedures to the financial information and underlying financial data, and based thereon, assessing whether the accounting policies and presentation have been consistently applied, unless otherwise disclosed. A review excludes audit procedures such as tests of controls and verification of assets, liabilities and transactions. It is substantially less in scope than an audit performed in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) and therefore provides a lower level of assurance than an audit. Accordingly we do not express an audit opinion on the financial information.

Review conclusion

On the basis of our review we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial information as presented for the six months ended 30 November 2006.
